Crowd of Fans Turn Out to See Football Practice

Judging from the number of spectators down at the football field last Friday afternoon, who were present to see the high school team in scrimmage practice, enthusiasm in football the coming season will be greater than ever before.

The Covina boys met Alhambra for scrimmage practice, no score being kept. In the earlier part of the practice the local boys appeared a little weak on defense, but later, at offensive, showed that they could put the ball forward when they wanted to. No doubt Coach Newman gathered a lot of information as to what the boys could do as individual players. In carrying the ball, Louie Richter seemed to be almost certain to make short gains through the opposing line, while Captain Biele tore off longer gains around the ends.

Mantz, at end, is doing some fast work, while two new players, Bill Arenas and Jerry Cole, who come here from Sherman, are expected to strengthen the team. Carter is doing very well at center, and Harold Chamberlain, a star on last year's team, is expected to do even better this year at tackle. Two other big boys are Timmons, who was out of school last year, and Needham, who showed up strong last year. Shaver, at quarter, has come up from the lightweight team, as have Jewett, Martin, and others. Roy Anderson at fullback and tackle, looks promising.

In fact, with the material on hand, it is going to be a job for Newman to sift them down to the coordinated machine he evolved last year. The boys are trying hard, as all positions will be hotly contested for, and all who make the team will come in for a lot of prominence in athletic circles.

FIRST GAME

The first practice game will be played here this (Friday) afternoon with Whittier high school. Other games have been arranged with the Whittier college frosh and with the Chaffee high school.

The new bleachers on the athletic field will add to the convenience of spectators, and grass upon the field itself improves the ground for the players. Goal posts have now been put in place.

Lyric Club Holds Opening Meeting

The Covina Valley Lyric club held its first meeting of the year Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Hal Cook on West Badillo street, with an informal 7 o'clock dinner, with thirty members and guests present. The tables were decorated with pink candles and roses.

Following the dinner, vocal solos were sung by Mrs. Charlotte White Naffel and Mrs. Ben Hughes, with the club accompanists, Mrs. Henry Damerel, at the piano. Mary Louise Cook, the little daughter of the hostess, also entertained with clever songs, accompanied by her mother. Plans for the coming year were discussed. The first rehearsal will be held Monday evening, September 27, at 7:30, at the Covina grammar school. Mr. Clifford Lott will again direct, with Mrs. Damerel as accompanist, and a big year is planned.

Wedgwood Rides High Wheeler to Honor Birthday

C. H. Wedgwood of Section Center avenue was seventy years old on Tuesday, and to celebrate the event he got out his old high-wheeled bicycle and pedaled about the main streets of the town. When he stopped he attracted large crowds of townspeople and school children, many of the latter having never before seen such a vehicle. As he rode around the grammar school grounds Wedgwood attracted the attention that a circus parade would.

The bicycle which Wedgwood rode has a long history. It is now forty-five years old, having been purchased in 1881. Wedgwood at that time lived in Oakland. Shortly after mastering the machine Wedgwood entered a race in San Francisco and won first place by riding a half mile in one minute and 27 seconds. It was an exciting and hotly-contested affair and Wedgwood won by a bare 10-inch margin, for which he received a gold medal.

In 1892 Wedgwood brought the machine to Los Angeles, and organized the first bicycle club in the southern city. The club consisted of eight members. One of the favorite rides of the club was to Santa Monica. The old high-wheelers lost their popularity in 1899-1900, when the "safety" bicycles were introduced. When the new style machines came out, Wedgwood took them up, but has always kept his first machine as a relic. A year or two ago a meeting of the "Wheelmen of the Past Century" was held at the Ambassador hotel and Wedgwood received a great deal of publicity by riding his old machine up the driveways to the hotel. Another meeting of the society will be held at the same place on October 26 of this year, and Wedgwood no doubt will repeat the performance.

Wedgwood's old machine was a "Harvard," and the front wheel is 52 inches in height. The rider is a tall man and as he rides down the street on the machine he overlooks all other conveyances. The tires are the envy of automobile owners, who buy new shoes all around every year. The bicycle tires are the originals, which makes them forty-five years old, and they look good for another forty-five years of service.

Wedgwood says that when he first started riding there were laws passed restricting the use of certain roads to bicyclists. However, after legal fights, the bicycle was declared a vehicle with rights to the roads. Wedgwood says that after bicycles became so popular that they cut down the business of the steam railroads to Santa Monica, the officials of the railroad used their influence to have the roads leading to the beach plowed every summer.

In riding the high-wheeler, Wedgwood explains that a small bump or rut in the road will cause it to easily tip over forwards. The rider says he had one bad fall received while in training for a race that has slightly stiffened one knee for life. He was watching some pedestrians crossing the street and failed to see a small stone in the road, which he hit with disastrous results.

Boys In Initiation at "Prep" School

Friday evening, September 17, the students of California Preparatory School for Boys held their first social meet of the new school year. On the east side of the spacious campus, a short distance from the group of new school buildings, faculty and students gathered at dusk, where picnic supper was served by the boys.

Immediately after followed the "initiation" of the new boys, with student Wix of the senior class as master of ceremonies. Speeches, songs and jokes were the order of the day, and the new boys acquitted themselves with credit under the "trying" circumstances, arousing merriment on all sides and a general jollification. A large bonfire was then set off, lighting up the country for miles around and burning the hatchet between the old boys and the new. Speeches were called for from new members of the faculty, who responded suitably.

California Preparatory School for Boys begins its tenth year under auspicious circumstances. In its splendidly equipped new quarters the boys are manifesting even a finer spirit than ever and are promising to lift still higher the already high standards of the school. It appears that the school motto, "Honesty, industry, loyalty," is to be applied individually as well as collectively in the student-body.

DR. SEARCY HOME AFTER BAD FRACTURE OF ARM

Dr. Claud Searcy, who has been in the Covina hospital since his return from a hunting trip with a double fracture of the arm, has returned to his home. Bone specialists thought it would be best not to set the bones, but to bind the arm in position and allow them to grow together. It will probably be several weeks before Dr. Searcy will be able to resume his dental practice. In the meantime, he expects to employ a capable dentist to care for his business.

COVINA REPRESENTED AT BOULDER DAM ASSOCIATION

R. M. Douglas and J. Jorgensen represented the local chamber of commerce at the meeting of the Boulder Dam association in Santa Ana last Saturday. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Bacon of San Diego and among the speakers was Congressman Swing, co-author of the Swing-Johnson bill. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, on Tuesday of this week again urged the necessity of early action on the dam, and hopes that congress will pass the bill during the coming short session.

Easterners Arrive For Big National W. C. T. U. Meet

With the three big special trains coming in today over the Santa Fe, Los Angeles will take on a gala look, since hundreds of banners and flags will be flung to the breeze in honor of the thousands of white-ribboners who have come to Southern California from all over the nation for the fifty-second national convention. In addition to the overhead banners hung across the streets, South Broadway from the state W. C. T. U. headquarters at Temple street will be especially decorated down to Eighth street, where the flags will turn to stop at the convention church, the First Methodist.

At Fifth the decorations will lead east to the headquarters hotel, the Rosslyn, where all the national officers and superintendents will stay during next week.

Both the city and county officials have been very generous in the way of helping the local women, the former giving $750 for the street decorations and the latter $500 for advertising purposes. While not definitely open until Sunday, the big convention, through its executive and young people, will start Saturday with special meetings. Miss Helen Byrnes, state director of young people's work, has arranged for a gathering of those interested in the young people's work for Saturday, while the national president, Mrs. Ella Booie, has called a session of all the state presidents for the afternoon of Sunday.

Both the city and county officials will also be busy on Saturday since at the Trinity Methodist church the annual convention will be held, with but one day instead of four, as ordinarily. Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, president, who is also head of the committee in charge of all local arrangements for the national convention, will preside.

Sunday morning the convention sermon will be preached by the Rev. Dr. Helms, pastor of the entertaining church, his subject being "The Crucifixion of the Soul," and in the evening at the same church, one of the most important meetings of the week will be staged, when among other notables, William McAdoo will announce his bone dry candidacy for the presidency on the Democratic ticket, in opposition to Al Smith of New York, who is expected to head the wets.

Sunday afternoon, at the big demonstration by the children—a thousand of them—Covina is honored by having one of her young musicians on the program. Miss Dorothy Hendrix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hendrix of Ben Lomond street, has been asked to give a cornet solo, which will be "The Holy City." Quite a group of young people and children will represent Covina in the big parade and pageant.

Every day of next week, until the close of the convention Friday night, will be filled with meetings of interest, with addresses by world-wide known people, receptions, banquets, and on Saturday various excursions have been planned. The church where the convention sessions are to be held is large and it is hoped that many not members will attend to hear the vitally important discussions on law enforcement. It should be of interest, as well, to watch the wheels of such a large organization go round. The W. C. T. U. has the reputation of doing business in the most business-like way of any of the women's organizations and Mrs. Booie, national president, has had long experience as president of New York state.

A number of local women will be in the city all of the next week, as well as going in for the state convention tomorrow.

GEN. ARTHUR H. GLENNAN DIES IN WASHINGTON

Word was received by wire yesterday of the death of Dr. Arthur Henry Glennan, at Washington, D. C., husband of Mrs. Mary McIntosh Glennan of Rowland avenue, this city. The deceased was former assistant surgeon-general of the United States public health service, chief quarantine officer in Cuba during the yellow fever epidemic there, and a member of the staff of Major-General Wood in 1902.

CHOIR LEADER RESIGNS TO GO TO PARADENA

Members of the choir of the Methodist church are regretting the loss of their leader, Mrs. Stickle. Mr. and Mrs. Stickle have sold their home near San Dimas and will move to Pasadena. Vacancies caused by her resignation and that of the organist, Miss Lucy Wheeler, have not yet been filled.

Hull-Matthews Marriage Occurs at Local Church

An impressive ring ceremony, at the close of the usual Sunday evening service of the First Baptist church of Covina, united in marriage Rev. John J. Hull of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and Miss Lucy Matthews of Covina, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Matthews.

Preceding the ceremony performed by Dr. C. G. Mosher, pastor of the Covina Baptist church and an old friend of the groom, two solos were sung, "Because," by Mr. A. G. Taylor, and "O Pure and True and Holy," by Mrs. Charlotte Naffel White. The contracting parties approached the altar to the strains of Beethoven's "Minuet in G," played by Mrs. A. G. Taylor. The bride wore a handsome gown of silk chiffon, and a coronet of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the wedding bouquet being American Beauty roses and lilies of the valley.

The altar was beautifully decorated with roses the work of the Oleo class of the Baptist Sunday school, of which the bride was a member. The church was filled with friends who sought the opportunity to offer congratulations immediately after the ceremony.

A reception was held at the bride's home for the large number of relatives and out-of-town guests who were present, and immediately following Rev. and Mrs. Hull left by automobile for the Mission Inn, Riverside. After a short wedding trip, including San Diego, they will reside in Covina at 202 East College street.

Mrs. Hull has been active in church and civic work in Covina for many years, having been a charter member of the Baptist church. She is a prominent member of the Business and Professional Women's club, and has held important secretarial offices. Rev. Hull, who has recently retired from active work in the South Dakota Baptist conference, has during his career filled the pastorate of several important churches in Wisconsin and South Dakota. For some years he held the position of financial and religious secretary of the National Central Institute, one of the large religious schools of the New England states. For eight years he was executive officer for the Maine State Sunday school association. In 1918 he was called to the work of the state Sunday school association of South Dakota, continuing in that work until July 1 of the present year. He spent a portion of last winter in Covina, during that period filling at times several of the local pulpits.

"FRIENDSHIP" THEME OF ADDRESS TO ROTARIANS

"My prayer begins and ends, God give me friends." This was the opening quotation of an address entitled "Friendship," delivered by the Rev. A. L. Kain, rector of Holy Trinity, before the members of the Covina Rotary club at their luncheon yesterday. It was an address full of poetic thought, but intensely practical in its application, a masterpiece in every sense of the word.

The business portion of the session was devoted by the president, Henry Damerel, in outlining the program for "Ladies' night," which will be held Oct. 14th. This program will be in charge of the wives of the club members.

The enrollment of the high school discloses the fact that forty-eight new students have entered outside of the members of the classes who were promoted from the eighth grades in the district. A number of these new students have registered from other states, including Texas, Illinois, Utah, Colorado, Iowa, and the Philippine islands.

Eight have entered the senior class, eight the junior, twelve are sophomores, two in 9A class, two taking post-graduate work, and fifteen have entered the freshman class from outside districts.

Cities of Valley to Improve Cemetery

Edwin Jobe, H. M. Brubaker, W. Q. Custer, A. M. Pence and J. Jorgenson were in Azusa last Friday evening to confer with the directors of the Azusa chamber of commerce regarding cooperation in bettering the appearance of the old section of the cemetery, in which many from Azusa, Glendora and Covina are buried. The directors voiced approval of the plan and will name a committee to work with similar committee already appointed by the chambers of the latter cities.

The movement started in Covina as a result of the "clean-up" week in May, when it was found that the old part of the cemetery, which is not under the perpetual care agreement, was badly in need of improvements, and it was thought possible that some means might be found to improve conditions. The suggestion met with the hearty approval by the cemetery association. One contemplated plan calls for the replating of that section, of which sixty per cent is now walks and roads. By doing so, a part of this excessive proportion can be sold as lots and the proceeds used to create a perpetual care fund.

FRED L. DOUGLAS INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Fred L. Douglas, civil engineer, met with an unfortunate accident last Sunday morning when he collided with the car of E. V. Dager at the corner of Hubbard street and Sunset avenue. The impact threw Mr. Douglas through the glass windshield wings, the glass cutting a gash in one arm to the bone for a length of six or more inches. Mr. Douglas was taken to the Covina hospital, where he remained until Wednesday night.

CALIFORNIA ALUMNI TO BOOST FOR BOND ISSUE

A meeting of the Covina alumni of the University of California was held in the chamber of commerce office last evening to discuss the proposition of a bond issue which will be put on the ballot at the November election, for the purpose of erecting new buildings on the newly-acquired Westwood site for the Southern Branch, and additional buildings at Berkeley.

Knights Templar Present Hospital to Masonic Home

One of the largest processions ever seen on the streets of Covina occurred last Saturday at 2:30 p.m., when over three hundred Knights Templar marched in full regalia from San Bernardino road down Citrus avenue to Badillo street and thence west to Fourth street. The parade was headed by a band of fifty pieces from the Golden West Commandery of Los Angeles.

Preceding the procession, the Sir Knights and their ladies took possession of the city park, with basket lunches, making the largest picnic ever held in the park. The Covina Commandery, the host for the occasion, was headed by William Hoogendyk, his staff, and a large representation of the membership. Automobiles for the parade and for transportation to the Masonic Home were furnished by Masons and some of the local automobile agencies.

The occasion of the gathering was the presentation to the Masonic Home of a new $60,000 unit, the hospital, just constructed and completed by the Knights Templar of the state of California. The presentation ceremonies, which occurred at the home at 2:30, were impressive, with five hundred Knights and many ladies in attendance.

The formal presentation was made by R. E. William J. Hasseler, past grand commander, to the grand master of the state of California, Albert Eugene Boynton, in behalf of the fraternity, with formal acceptance by the grand master.

The keys of the hospital were delivered to the president of the board of trustees of Masonic homes, Chas. M. Wollanberg. Music was rendered by the band and the children of the home, between the addresses. An exhibition drill and review was given at the close, and the Sir Knights returned to Los Angeles, where a dinner was held at the "Mary Louise" for all grand officers and inspectors of departments 7-9, with a reception to the grand master at the Shrine mosque.

Fred Beaty's Hat Brings Big Price at Whittier Meet

Fred T. Beaty's pre-primary straw hat, the one he wore every day during the campaign for supervisor of the first district, was auctioned off to the highest bidder by Frank M. Colville of Baldwin Park Monday night at the victory dinner given in honor of Mr. Beaty at Whittier.

A perfectly good straw hat, still in good condition after one of the most strenuous of campaigns that carried Beaty to the top of the ticket, is the manner in which Mr. Colville characterized it, but discarded now for two reasons, the first being that traffic cops have orders to arrest anyone seen in "hay bunnies" since the fall edict went into effect, and secondly, that Beaty has shed a brand new felt into the ring in the first to succeed Prescott F. Cogswell as the next supervisor.

Two hundred citizens, representing all but a few of the cities and communities of the first district, were present to pledge an intensive precinct organization in preparation for the election on November 2, and an overwhelming victory for the Montebello man was predicted by every speaker. The dinner was presided over by Walter Barger of Baldwin Park. Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier college, in an address urging unity of purpose in carrying the primary victory to a final victory, made the statement that Mr. Beaty had conducted a clean, courageous campaign, and that his rise in strength against a strongly entrenched incumbent of the office was the most amazing event of the late campaign.

Mr. Beaty's address included a new and forceful arraignment of the delay of three years in flood control projects, and a charge that the incumbent, Mr. Cogswell, was forcing Flood Control Engineer J. W. Reagan and all subordinates in that department to take the political stump to elect Cogswell, rather than to attend to their duties as county employees engaged in one of the most seriously-needed projects in the province of the county. Mr. Beaty made a forthright charge of undue political activity on the part of county employees, but declared that he blamed no one but Cogswell, who he said was responsible for their actions.

One of the strong speeches of the evening was made by Frank Benedict of Pasadena, an opponent of Mr. Beaty before the primaries, who was present to offer his services in behalf of Beaty's election. Speeches were also made by Robert C. Avery and Harry Waugh of Long Beach, Mark Potter of Pomona, and by a representative of each of the communities present.

Headquarters for Mr. Beaty's campaign have been reestablished at 226 Philadelphia street, Whittier, with Myron J. Haig as campaign manager.

Power Demand Shows Gain in Trade Expansion

By R. H. BALLARD
Executive Vice-President and General Manager of the Southern California Edison Company.

That Southern California continues to be the white spot is demonstrated by a report just compiled, showing the output of electric plants for the entire state. This analysis shows that electricity generated and consumed in the southern portion of the state increased 12.33 per cent for the first six months of 1926, while the increase in the state as a whole was 11.99 per cent.

Further examination of this report shows that the southern section in the same period has generated 8 per cent more electricity than the northern portion and that the southern district in the month of June shows a gain of 18.27 per cent, while the northern part shows a gain of 11.62 per cent.

In the past 12 months 238,488 horsepower of new business has been added to the system of the Southern California Edison company. This is an increase of 58 per cent over the general average since 1923, while the use of electricity among all its customers is 8 per cent higher than the average for the past four years. This latter figure is the true index of commercial and industrial activity, as it shows that manufacturing plants in the southland are busy.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits in cities served by the Edison company show a healthy condition, although some of them are slightly under the figures for previous years. Twenty-four of these outlying cities show a total of $33,224,941 for the first six months. Among these neighboring cities which show a distinct gain in building permits over 1925 are Beverly Hills, Huntington Park, Lynwood, San Bernardino, San Gabriel, Santa Monica, Southgate, Ventura, and Whittier.

The total number of new homes applying for Edison service in the past year are 28,147.

To keep pace with this continued demand for electricity in southern and central California the Edison company is now engaged in making several major additions to its generating and distributing systems. Among these is a third high voltage transmission line from the company's Big Creek-San Joaquin river development to Southern California. This line, costing $5,000,000, is 250 miles long and will have capacity to transmit 200,000 horse-power. The first section extending from Bakersfield to Los Angeles is nearly finished and the entire line will be ready for operation in 1928.

PLAN NEW STATION

A large distributing station is being planned to serve the rapidly growing industrial section southeast of the city and another large new substation will be erected in the neighborhood of Visalia, to provide added service for Kings, Tulare and Kern counties in the San Joaquin valley.

For local distribution throughout the territory supplied by the Edison company some 25 important substations are now in process of erection. That everyone in this part of the state benefits from the construction activities of our utilities is indicated by another report just compiled which shows that in 1925 the Edison

COVINA TO HAVE ORANGE EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR

"Blackie," state champion Holstein, raised by the boys of the California Junior Republic at Chino. Blackie and the balance of the herd will be at the Los Angeles county fair.

Plans for the orange exhibit, to be entered in the Covina chamber of commerce in the county fair in Pomona, are completed and the local packing houses are now selecting their best stock to be boxes. The rack display will be 10x40 feet and will compete for four prizes—sweetstakes, best rack display, best 40 boxes, and best 24 boxes.

A very neat design has been chosen by the committee. The words, "Covina—City of Flowers," will be worked into the display by colored wrapping paper, as well as a vase with different colored flowers, also made by the artistic use of harmonizing colors in wrappers. A plate of large lemons will also be entered. The exhibit will be assembled Friday, and on Monday taken to the fair to be placed in the advantageous location selected by the management.

Tickets are now on sale at the chamber of commerce office at 3 for $1, and children under 12 will be admitted free on Tuesday, which has been designated the "associated chambers" day. Roy Hendrix, H. Allison, Wm. Hoogendyk, L. R. Topham and J. Hodges compose the committee in charge of the Covina entry.

High School Will Hold Night Classes

All parties interested in night school in the Covina union high school, please meet September 27 at 7:30 p.m. People interested in commercial subjects, meet Mr. Shaw in the auditorium building. Ashbaughs Return From Auto Trip company alone bought materials and supplies from over 15,000 separate concerns for a total of $15,000,000. Some of these items are unbelievably large until one stops to think of the thousands of workmen in the mountains who live in the company camps or purchase their supplies through the company's commissary department. This explains what happened to $34,642 of clothing, $171,522 of meats, $230,738 in groceries, and $52,243 of tobacco and candy.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Ashbaugh and their daughter, Virginia, and son, Jack, have just returned from a delightful motor trip through the eastern states. Miss Beulah Miller of Halsey, Oregon, accompanied them. They visited in Kansas City and Jack attended a Boy Scout meeting in that city. They next visited Belton, Missouri, Omaha and Council Bluffs. They stopped in St. Louis and went up the Mississippi to Alton, Illinois. They returned by the way of Memphis, Tennessee, and Dallas, Texas. At Comanche they visited a brother of Mrs. Ashbaugh's whom she had not seen for twenty-one years. They traveled through eleven states and made over seven thousand miles.

VALUE OF PUBLICITY
Less than a month ago a college professor made a plea for greater publicity on the affairs of large companies—a plea that was picked up and repeated by newspapers clear across the country. The Edison company has long recognized this need for understandable information about a technical business and uses all legitimate mediums to give its news to the public. Through advertising and published articles, the story of electricity and its relation to the everyday things of California is being told.

With over 103,000 stockholders, with 15,000 concerns from which it buys and with 340,000 customers to whom its product is sold—taking the Southern California Edison company as an example—it is very easy to see why the people of this state are interested in the affairs of their public utilities. It has been said that "the people of California have more contact with the electric power company than with any other institution except the postoffice."

WHAT HAS CIRCULATION TO DO WITH ADVERTISING?

Here's the answer to the question—

WHY—

do stores display their goods in the windows instead of merely displaying them inside?

BECAUSE—

more people pass outside the stores than inside.

Circulation

WHY—

does a store on Citrus avenue command a higher rent than one in the residence section?

BECAUSE—

more people pass Citrus avenue than they do any named residential section.

Circulation

WHY—

does an advertisement in the Covina Argus bring better results?

BECAUSE—

it is a newspaper that is read with interest.

Circulation

IN ORDER—to get results your advertisement must be READ.

The more people who read it the more chances it has to get results.

Covina Man Given First Service Cross

In an article in the Portland "Oregonian," dated August 29th, written by Major-General William H. Johnston, he tells of the decorating with the distinguished service cross of Ned Crawford, then a private (first class), company C, 316th field signal battalion. He tells of a visit to the command post. While they were conferring the German artillery made a direct hit at their post. Two men on duty as runners, sitting at the door, were killed. Two officers and one telephone operator were wounded.

Major-General Johnston says as he entered the room he saw a switch-board operator coolly operating his board, an essential duty to maintain communication with the corps and other divisions.

The operator was Ned Crawford, now chief electrician for the Home Telephone company of Covina.

Major-General Johnston says: "It was the first distinguished service cross actually received. At a ceremony in Belgium early in November I decorated him."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dowd and family of Fontana were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hurd of Glendora street.

Why "Shasta" GASOLINE?

Because—
CALIFORNIA'S HIGHEST Pinnacle
YET ATTAINED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF MOTOR FUEL

WHAT YOU GET WHEN
Your gasoline tank has just been filled with the latest and greatest of gasolines. It was developed for hydroplanes. On May 30th, at the hydroplane races at Newport, it broke the world's record—the Hydroplane "General," powered by this new fuel, smashed all former records for her class.

Now it is ready for your motor car—the result of years of effort to produce the perfectly balanced, highly volatile gasoline for automobiles.

Notice these results:
A noticeable difference in power the year 'round.
A noticeable difference in gas miles.
Less carbon deposit.
No crank-case dilution.
No fuel knocks.
No pitted valves or fouled spark plugs.
Lower transportation cost.

$1000 CASH
will be paid by the General Petroleum Company for an acceptable name for this new motor fuel. Come in and get particulars.

Cogswell Again Found "Sleeping at the Switch"

Characterizing as "brazen," the proposal of present members of the board of supervisors to increase their salaries from $5,000 to $10,000 through an amendment to the county charter, Fred T. Beaty of Montebello, who led the ticket at the primaries for supervisor in the first district, declares that the present board could not expect any such approval from the people as based upon a record of incompetency and extravagance during the past four years.

"The first district supervisor has for years been delaying and blocking the movement to establish seven districts in the place of five," says Mr. Beaty, "a movement that has grown out of the need for concentration and efficiency in county government. Mr. Cogswell, however, has been driven by this demand to introduce a resolution on the board calling for the submitting to the people in November of a proposal for seven supervisorial districts, but in order to kill the proposal there has been added to it the proposal to double the salary of supervisors. The board knows that the people will not favor such an increase, especially at this time when the board of supervisors is seriously under scrutiny, because of gross extravagance in connection with the building of the hall of justice, and because of the great loss through delay in the flood control program.

"From the very outset of my campaign I have advocated that this county be reformed into seven districts. Long Beach citizens are distinctly in favor of this plan, in order that the city shall become largely a district within itself with its own supervisor, to protect the interests of its great harbor and bring about the building of adequate highways leading into that city.

"But the recent proposal by the board to attach to the redistricting a doubling of supervisor salaries is in my opinion a deliberate attempt to kill the redistricting plan. I do not believe the people will or should vote for any salary increase at this time because of the increasing heavy burdens of taxation."

COGSWELL AGAIN SLEEPS

"With public sentiment aroused at the effrontery of the members of the board of supervisors to double their own pay, is it any wonder," says Mr. Beaty, "that Supervisor Cogswell has been frantically trying to explain through the public press and otherwise that he had no knowledge that the resolution called for a raise in the salaries of the board members of one hundred per cent." He undoubtedly is telling the truth, but it again verifies the statement which has been made by my supporters that Mr. Cogswell is often unaware of many important actions taken by the board of supervisors. This is but one of the many times in his official career on the board when my opponent has been found "sleeping at the switch."

(Note: Since the above article was placed in type the members of the board of supervisors have revoked their action as regards the raise in salary, forced by the vigorous protest received from the taxpayers of the county.)

Early Days in Covina

TEN YEARS AGO

E. G. Prather, well-known rancher of West Rowland avenue, is confined to his bed as a result of injuries received Tuesday evening when a span of mules, attached to a spring-tongue harrow, shied at a neighbor's child who rode into the yard on a bicycle. Prather was dragged over a pile of wood and through a fence.

Dr. F. J. Cline, who owns an orange grove on East Badillo street, had the unique experience of picking up several hundred dollars' worth of gold and silver coins in his orchard this week. The coins came in a earload of barnyard fertilizer and were scattered over the grove before discovered. A casual inspection showed them to be counterfeit and of such poor mintage that the counterfeiter used this method to get rid of them.

W. W. Bennett has been elected by the Covina Citizens association to fill the vacancy on the board of directors made vacant by the death of the late George Anderson.

"Penjerrick," the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Letchworth, on Juana avenue, was recently filmed for use in "The Daughter of the Don," now showing in Los Angeles. The scenes, however, proved too modern for use in the picture, and through the courtesy of Mrs. Lulu Dietz of the Star theater, were thrown on the screen at that place.

"Laddie" Will Be Shown Three Days

A picture which has "come back" will be shown at the Covina theater tonight (Friday) and tomorrow. This is "Outside the Law," with Lon Chaney playing dual parts. In response to a growing public demand the producer has made new prints of "Outside the Law." Priscilla Dean is the star of this production.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will bring Gene Stratton Porter's "Laddie" to the local playhouse. The many readers of Mrs. Porter's novels will be glad of an opportunity to witness the screen version of this story. The parts are taken by well-known actors, including John Bowers, Bess Flowers and David Torrence. Broad in understanding and deep in human sympathy, "Laddie" is one of the best-loved and most widely circulated novels of all time. It has ranked for years among the twelve best sellers in America, and even today has a steady sale that outstrips many of the supposedly popular books.

A screen version of the popular stage success, "My Old Dutch," is to be shown next Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The story tells of London's quaint coster folk, their lives and their loves; it is a forty years' love story, gripping, appealing, remarkably dramatic. There are thrills, too—the great race, a tremendous fight. The feature is played by an all-star cast headed by May McAvoy, Pat O'Malley, Jean Herscholt and Cullen Landis.

OUR LONDON STYLE LETTER

The romance of Scottish tweeds told by our style observer abroad

BY OUR LONDON STYLE OBSERVER

LONDON, August: I wonder how many men realize, when they put on a suit made from a superfine material, the amount of art and romance which has gone to the making of the cloth.

Weaving is no longer the simple process it used to be. Decoration, pattern and colour blending, all have to be considered; dyers and finishers work in conjunction with highly advanced chemists.

Scottish tweeds carry romance with them. They seem to speak of their environment; to have borrowed from Nature the secret of her wonderful colours. The skill of their manufacture, and the thoroughness, almost symbolical of the Scottish character, has earned for the Scottish woolen industry an honourable place in the textile world.

From the homespun of Harris and the Highlands, and the beautifully soft products of the Shetland Islands, to the cloths of the Lowland counties, the manufacture of cloth from the fleece of the sheep is carried on throughout the entire country. It is from here that Hart Schaffner & Marx import many of their fine fabrics.

The origin of the word "tweed" is disputed: Some say it arose from a clerical error for "twill," and others that it was given to the cloths produced in towns on the river Tweed. Whatever the actual derivation, a more or less peaceable population plied the shuttle on the Tweed at a time when the moss troopers were plundering on the Border.

Until early in the nineteenth century the native sheep supplied the bulk of the raw material and even today more sheep are reared per acre in the counties of Roxburgh and Selkirk than anywhere else in the world. Nevertheless, the home supply by no means meets the demand of the Scottish manufacturers, who have to buy fine and coarse wool from all wool producing countries.

There are endless varieties of Scottish cloths and each one has its particular use in the men's wear world; the lamb's wool and dark Cheviot coatings for formal wear; smart silk adorned Cheviot and Saxony suitings for town use; rough tweeds for the country; tightly twisted thorn proof cloths for sports and soft loose comfortable Shetlands for golfing. Then there are fine fleecy overcoatings, and wonderfully coloured checkbacks as well as black and dark grey cloths for town overcoats.

Mr. Leo Baker of Etiwanda was a guest on Monday of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Dye of Section Center street, Charter Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Foster and sons of Puente street were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomson at Long Beach.

The seniors of the "High-Tri" spent the week-end at the Nealey cottage at Sunset Beach. They were chaperoned by Miss Ross.

The Charter Oak Thimble club met for the first time this season with Mrs. E. W. Gilpatrick on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Parolus and little grandson of Watts were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Colver.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kurile and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bawtinheimer of Los Angeles were guests last Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gauldin.

Decision Delayed for Right to Build Railroad to Dam

No decision will be made at this time on the application of the Los Angeles flood control district to build a railroad up the canyon of the San Gabriel river in conjunction with the proposed flood control dam at the Forks. This was the decision of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, notwithstanding the fact that permission to build the dam has already been given by Secretary Work of the Interior department.

After a conference with Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the forestry service, Secretary Jardine decided that he would not pass on the application for the "low line" railroad until after Col. Greeley had submitted a plan to both factions in the controversy which he thought might be acceptable to them.

If the efforts of Col. Greeley prove unsuccessful in settling the controversy, Secretary Jardine indicated that he will hold a hearing some time this fall at which both parties could again state their case, before he makes his decision. At any rate, it is thought there is no possibility of any dam being started for several months at least unless Los Angeles should become dissatisfied and decide to build a high line railroad at an almost prohibitive cost rather than be tied up by the tactics of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Decker spent Sunday in Bouquet canyon.

Well Worth Remembering—

When we hear so much propaganda about Uncle Sam being a hard master and wanting the French to pay at least a part of the debt they owe, is a good time to recall just what Uncle Sam did to save France and allies from being overrun by the German army. The United States went to France not because we feared Germany but because the people of this country did not believe militarism as represented by Germany was the proper method of governing mankind and they knew that if Germany was successful, it meant the world would be governed by militarism, a method which has been repudiated by the world at large for a hundred years. When this country joined the allies to stem the torrent which was sweeping France, Belgium and other countries from the earth, they created a war debt exceeding twenty billion dollars, the greatest debt any nation ever created; they loaned the allies at least fourteen billion dollars more; they armed and equipped four million men, more than half of whom had been sent to France; these men were the flower of American manhood and thousands never returned.

Let us see just how France met this vast army when it reached its shores. The United States had to build new harbors at millions of expense and had to pay every dollar of this expense as well as for the ground itself in many cases, this country had to build its railroads in France to transport its armies and equipment to the front and had to buy at huge prices, the very fields on which they trained their armies. And when French railroads were used a good price was demanded for their use. The fact is the United States was held up at every turn in a country which owes its very life to this country. Now when President Coolidge asks a payment of only fifty per cent of the money actually loaned to France, many so called statesmen are spreading propaganda trying to make a shyness of our nation. And even Geo. Clemenceau, "the tiger of France," publishes a letter of condemnation and sends it to President Coolidge. It was an insult to every man who is today paying high taxes on account of the war. It was an insult to this government and only the long friendship of the two countries saved a bad situation.

The French people are all right. They have the misfortune to be badly governed ever since the war. They have had some statesmen who have not been honest with them. They were led to believe that Germany could be made to pay the war debt of France. They were opposed to meeting their just obligations as did England. They have been drifting along in a fool's paradise until the value of their currency has disappeared and financial troubles are overwhelming them.

The American nation sympathizes with France in her troubles but feels she has done all that was necessary to save her from the troubles which have overtaken her. And we should not be blamed for asking payment of a just debt. —Glendora Gleaner.

Support the Wright Act—

Leaders of the W. C. T. U. throughout California are preparing to conduct a vigorous campaign against the repeal of the Wright anti-bootlegging act, which will be brought before the voters in a referendum at the November election, and are urging all prohibitionists to get into the battle and help "save the day."

Wet organizations, through insidious propaganda and misrepresentation, have succeeded in obtaining the necessary 75,000 signatures to place the repeal referendum on the November ballot as proposition number nine, and with slogans, "Get your liberty back" and "Vote for light wines and beer," hope to storm the state and bring about the repeal of the Wright act.

Let us not be deceived by the gang which is seeking to overthrow prohibition enforcement in California. The repeal of the Wright act will not give the people light wines and beer. That bunk is as rotten as bootleg liquor. To repeal the Wright act will mean nothing more or less than to make it impossible for the police forces of California to aid federal officers in enforcing the Volstead act, the eighteenth amendment, engrossed in the constitution of the United States.

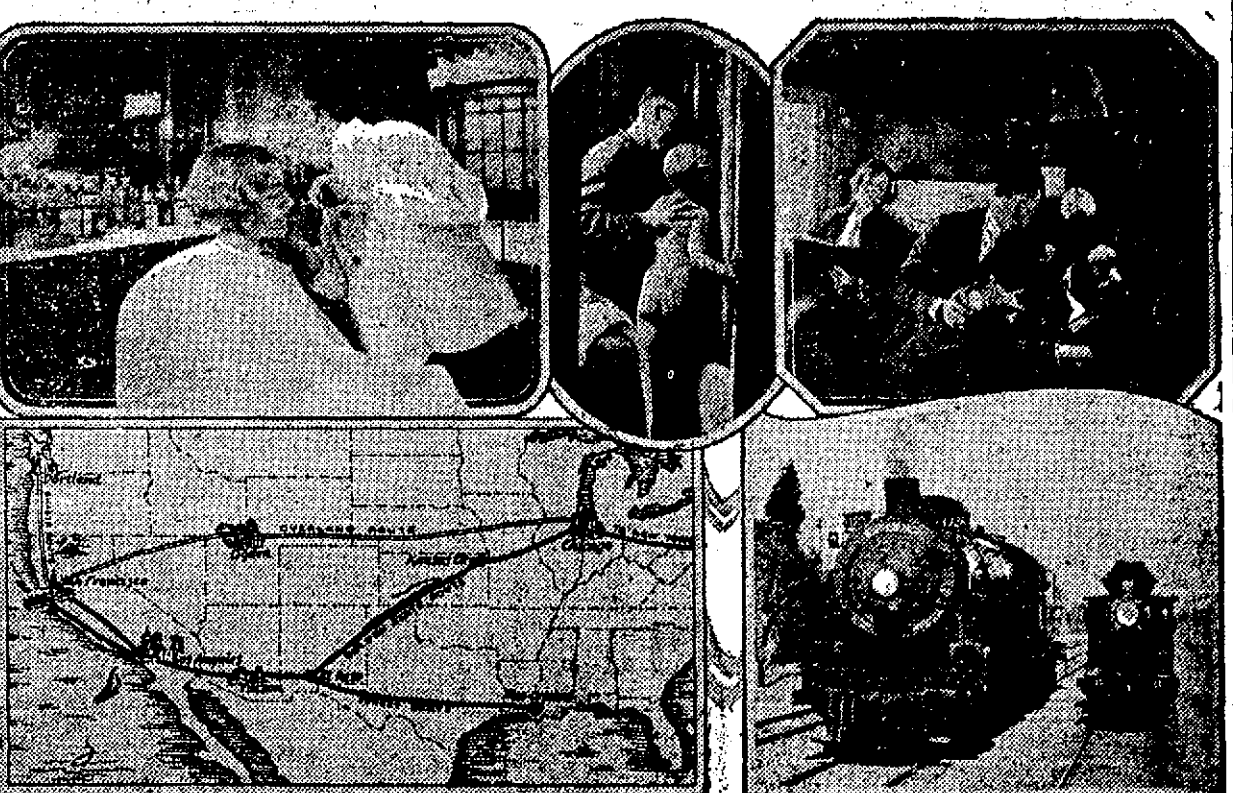

Repealing the Wright act will not bring back so-called "liberty" nor "light wines and beer." To overthrow the Wright act would be the same as saying to Uncle Sam that Californians repudiate the constitution, that we are against the enforcement of the national prohibition law, and that we have no objections to the bootleggers selling their poisonous concoctions to our people—to our sons and daughters. Repealing the Wright act would mean that the liquor fines now going into city and county treasuries would be lost to California.

The Sun, in the interest of law and order, in the interest of our homes and business, would urge every citizen and voter to line up with the W. C. T. U. workers and see to it that the Wright act is not repealed, but that it shall stand so long as the eighteenth amendment stands, that Californians are loyal to society and true to American principles. —San Fernando Sun.

The Service Club—

Charles E. Davis, writing in the Monrovia Post, gives the following sensible review of the value of the service club: Now that the novelty has worn off the service clubs, and the American Mercury continues to poke fun at Rotarians, we hear members occasionally wonder just how much they get out of attending weekly luncheons, singing good fellowship songs and listening to someone tell about the ethics of business. The answer is easy. Every man gets out of life what he puts into it. He gets out of his church, his lodge, his service club, about as much as he puts into it. If he feels that being a Methodist or a Kiwanian isn't just what he expected, there's a strong possibility that he hasn't been working at either job very much. To thoroughly enjoy the life of the service clubs it is only necessary to put oneself in a receptive mood and not to take oneself too seriously.

FAST TRAINS SAVE BUSINESS DAY

RUNNING TIME REDUCED—When the 63-hour operating schedule of the Golden State Limited begins on November 14, five hours will be cut from the train between Los Angeles and Chicago. Photo shows a part of the luxurious equipment to be provided for the new train, including barber shops, shower baths, lounges and the latest Pullman cars. Map shows the direct route of the Golden State Limited to Chicago. Lower right, the latest passenger engine which will pull the fast trains, compared with the C. P. Huntington, first Southern Pacific engine.

TRANSPORTATION, patron saint of progress, will soon add another chapter to the colorful history of the development of the west. The last half-century has seen the transcontinental journey from east to west reduced from months to weeks and from weeks to days, until the once tedious overland trip is now but a matter of hours. The lumbering oxen drawn cart gave way to the prairie schooner, the stage-coach and the pony express. Then came the first transcontinental railroad train wheeling and halting on the long grind over mountain and plain. Now comes the announcement that the new luxurious Limited trains will cut five hours from the present running time and make the journey from Los Angeles to Chicago in sixty-three hours. When the Golden State Limited leaves for Chicago on November 14, a new epoch in transcontinental railway transportation will begin. Not only will the new schedule bring the east and the west five hours closer, but the fast trains will give the traveler an additional business day in Los Angeles. Under the new schedule as now planned the famous Golden State Limited will leave Los Angeles at 5 p. m. and arrive in Chicago at 10 a. m. Leaving Los Angeles, the train will arrive in Colton at 8:35 a. m.; Yuma, 11:50 a. m.; Tucson, 7:40 a. m.; El Paso, 3 p. m. and Tucuman, New Mexico, 1:55 a. m. On the westbound journey, the Golden State Limited will leave Chicago at 8 a. m. and arrive in Los Angeles at 10 a. m. arriving in Chicago at 8 a. m. Westbound the Apache will leave Chicago at 6 p. m. and arrive in Los Angeles at 12 o'clock noon. The Golden State Limited will be an extra fare train, the extra charge being $10 between Los Angeles and Chicago, which amount will be graduated for intermediate points. This train will be equipped with the finest accommodations. The Pullman cars will be of the latest design with permanent-partition section space, insuring additional privacy. Shower baths for men and for women, club cars with card-rooms and smoking lounges, observation cars with private lounges for women, and carefully trained ladies' maids, barbers and valets, will give the new train a service equal to the most exclusive town club or hotel. Southern Pacific has already placed an order for eleven new diners of the latest design, some of which will be used on the Golden State Limited.

It's All the Rage—

Spring generally is considered the silly season. Is fall trying to usurp the title? We'll have to wait and see. Summer over, the average American has an abundance of energy. He casts about for something to take the place of the outdoor life. And he usually hits upon some sort of a fad. Not so long ago it was mah jongg. No home was complete that fall and winter without a table piled with little pieces of bamboo having laundry mark inscriptions. Then it was the cross word puzzle. Dictionaries were in demand. We all searched encyclopedias for three-letter words meaning elephant, or something equally as important. During that fall and winter no home was complete without at least one maniac. Coue came along here some place with his brightening little bit of philosophy. He was a fad, but a very nice one even if it did become exasperating to many of us at times. What will it be this autumn? There are two things on the horizon. One is the intelligence test. The other is Hindu religion. A gentleman with the alphabet for a name is being hailed as a great teacher. Here's an intelligence test question: Will Jiddu Krishnamurti become a fad here this fall and winter? The modern three wise men are Stop, Look and Listen. —Pomona Progress.

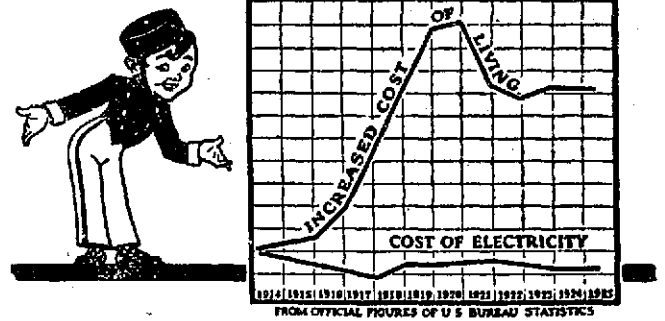

Boast Not of Thyself—

No man, no matter how great may be his intelligence and energy, can point to his success, to his rise in commercial and financial affairs, and say of a truth that the climb is due to his personal efforts and nothing more, for not so. Whatever we are in the avenue of life, be we up or down, should be, in a large measure, contributed to those with whom we daily contact. For instance, the business man would never succeed were it not for his patrons, and the editor would not "get on" were it not for the support of subscribers and advertisers, also the farmer would be a failure were it not for the consumers. We owe much to each other in common. Each of us are in some measure indebted to "the other fellow." We prosper or fail not altogether from our own personal efforts, although personal efforts count for much, very much, and this goes not only in business, but also in the social, religious and educational world. Let us not boast too much of ourselves, but rather grasp the worth of our neighbors and friends.

The Chart that makes Your Check Book Smile

THIS simple diagram tells a story far more interesting to you than any possible explanation of the technique of making and selling electricity.

It is interesting because it affects the family budget.

The average cost of electricity is now 8 per cent lower than in 1914.

The average cost of everything else, from apples to zithers, is 65 per cent higher.

That's all there is to the case. No oratory—no editorial—no pamphlet can change these facts.

Pioneer Dies at Daughter's Home

Ruth Buffington Kuffel, pioneer resident of California for the past seventy-six years, passed on at the home of her daughter, Alice K. Strosnider, North Citrus avenue, Covina, Saturday evening, September 18th, at 8 o'clock.

At the age of five years she crossed the plains with her parents behind an ox team, settling in a Northern California mining town.

In 1866 deceased became the wife of Adam Poe Kuffel, at Petaluma, and to this union were born thirteen children, ten of whom are living and were with her at the end of life.

The last years of her life were spent at Beaumont. She is survived by her husband and ten children.

Mrs. Kuffel possessed a spirituality and Christian character above the usual, filling the busy role of wife, mother, pal and companion to complete fullness.

Services were held at the Covina funeral parlors, conducted by Rev. Burnett, pastor of the Methodist church of Glendora. Interment was at Oakdale.

PARENT-TEACHER CLUB IN RECEPTION AT SCHOOL

The Parent-Teacher association of the high school held a reception for the mothers of the freshmen and juniors Wednesday afternoon in the cafeteria. Nearly one hundred mothers were present, in an informal social hour. The president of the association, Mrs. R. L. Hendrix, and the other officers extended a warm greeting to each guest. Cake and tea were served at the cafeteria. Selections were played by a trio from the high school orchestra—Dorothy Hendrix, cornet, Dorothy Ruffner and Lea Etta Taylor, violin, and Dorothy Estep, flautist.

Next Wednesday, the 29th, a similar reception will be held for the mothers of the sophomores and seniors.

BAPTISTS TO POPULARIZE SUNDAY EVENING SERVICES

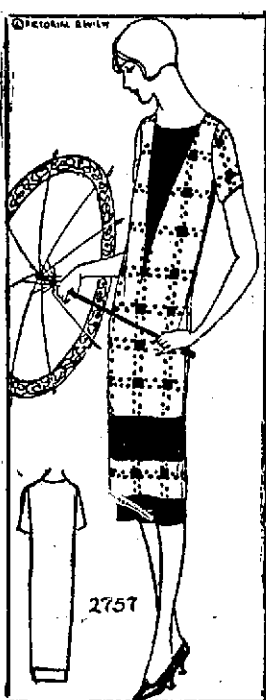

In a display announcement which appears elsewhere in this issue of the paper, the Baptist church announces an interesting and varied program for the evening service, including congregational singing of old hymns, quartet numbers, whistling solos by Miss Ernesta Hill, and vocal solos by Mrs. Charlotte White Naf-tel.

Rev. C. G. Mosher, the pastor, will offer a series of sermons dealing with practical subjects. This church is making a special effort to popularize the Sunday evening services.

TRACTOR CATCHES MAN BY FOOT—INJURY AVOIDED

Frank Philleo, living on Orange avenue, had a narrow escape Monday while running a tractor to which was attached a harrow. In making too short a turn at the corner the harrow jumped up on the wheel of the tractor and threw the fender over the operator's leg, pinning it down. Mr. Philleo managed to stop the tractor and made frantic calls for help, which soon brought assistance and extricated him without serious injury.

—giving the wearer an opportunity for indulging in the vogue of colorful apparel in a popular and practical article.

If you were to ask you'll find that the most popular accessory to necessary apparel for man, woman or child, sold in any store in California, is the knitted or blanket coat in its many variations.

You may prefer the Lumber Jack model, the pull-over model, or a combination of both in the speedster—or if you are more conservative you can have the plain coat model. The variety is plentiful at this store.

Their adaptability to out-of-door wear makes them a practical garment to substitute for a coat and their comfort for the school room and business office have created for them an almost universal demand from both sexes and all ages.
